

Monthly "Electricity" Line Impacts for Residential Consumers

The following charts show examples of the impact of the Regulated Price Plan (RPP) on the "Electricity" line of consumers bills based on different monthly consumption levels. The examples take into account the change from the summer season (May to October) consumption threshold of 600 kWh / month to the winter season (November to April) consumption threshold of 1,000 kWh / month.. The consumption threshold is the amount of electricity that is charged at the lower RPP price.
